Profile

My home town is Shan Xi province and the place of birth is Xin Du county of Si Chuan province. After finished the middle school education, I went to the countryside for four years, and during this period I worked as a citizen-managed teacher in the local village school. In 1977, I participated the first national collage entrance examination after the Cultural Evolution ,fortunately, I was admitted to the history department of Northeast Normal University. After finished the undergraduate education in Northeast Normal University, after that, I worked in the history department of Liaoning Normal University for three years. In 1984, I returned to the alma mater and studied with my supervisor, professor Zhuhuan who is the well-known historian, for seven years. I was respectively awarded the master's degree in 1987 ,and conferred the doctor's degree in 1991. I was employed as the lecturer in 1987, and was promoted to an associate professor and the postgraduate supervisor in 1992. In 1997, I was hired as the full professor, and was selected as the doctoral supervisor in 1998. During my working period, I served successively as head of the teaching and research section, the vice-dean of history department, and the director of research center, the member of school professor council, as well as the committee member of school academic board.
